ABOUT US

YZY kithomes is a combination of two worlds - European engineered and made Scandinavian structures in good hands of reputable Aussie builders.

Our assigned builders have an extensive experience building studios, garden rooms and backyard cabins from different manufacturers or designing them from scratch for decades. So, they can provide you with competent advice and comparison of different options conversant with local building regulations.

Distributing YZY structures through authorized distributors, carefully selected builders with a track record and reputation makes our clients very happy cabin owners. By word of mouth more and more people are choosing YZY cabins for their quality features, professional service and good value for money.

All YZY backyard studios have been developed to suit Australian taste and climate and we are the only company in Australia that walked that extra mile to provide Aussies with superior products. We added more windows to let more light in, made higher ceilings and doors [Aussies are tall people!], added stainless steel rods to suit coastal areas, developed comprehensive installation manuals for DIY enthusiasts.

YZY cabins may be built as an exempt development in NSW [that is without council approval]. Also, with our 20m2 cabins you have choice of building it without council approval or as a habitable cabin and it will suit requirements for either choice: their internal ceiling height satisfies the requirement to be average of 2.4m for habitable and the height of buildings is up to 3m to comply with exempt development standards.

All natural sustainable wood
